Law Enforcement Officers,

One of my functions, at the Denver Police Department, is to provide a supportive care component when our employees are absent from work for an extended period of time due to illness or injury. I insure our employees and their families receive appropriate support and assistance from resources within and outside our department.

Denver Police Chief Gerald Whitman wants to extend similar support to law enforcement officers and their families who find it necessary to obtain rehabilitation at Craig Hospital. We realize visiting law enforcement officers and their families are far from home and could benefit from local support by the Denver Police Department.

If you are a law enforcement officer, preparing to arrive or currently at Craig Hospital, please contact me for further information:
